It was necessary for Mr. Atkinson to teach school, while his wife, Mary Elizabeth, still helped further by teaching music. They were in the active ministerial work for about twenty years. These being the days of the circuit-rider, they have many thrilling stories to tell of the wild west at that time. As the family were moving to Oregon in 1887, Nellie Elsie contracted pneumonia on the train. Her first memory is one of a January day in 1887, being in a small hotel room in Arlington, Oregon, and a fat landlady applying onion poultices to her chest. She has never cared very much for onions since.

Most of her girlhood days were spent on Eight Mile, in Gilliam County, Oregon, on a stock ranch. She and her older sister Florence, each owned her own pony, and many delightful days were spent on the old place. Nellie Elsie's greatest tragedy at that time was the fact that she, having the gentler horse, and being the younger, often had to endure the humiliation of having little brother Ray hang on behind her.

After a few years her father bought a farm on Rock Creek, in Gilliam County, and she learned to pick fruit, milk cows, and hoe in the garden. She graduated from the Oregon Normal School, at Monmouth, in June, 1905, being class orator of the fifty prospective teachers. After having taught school for a few years, she was married to Claude Chester Chapman, of Fossil, Wheeler County, Oregon, on January 1, 1910. They have four children. The father, mother, and two older children have their membership in a Baptist church, but are now affiliated with the Pentecostal Movement, giving their "tithes and offerings" into the storehouse of the Portland Gospel Tabernacle.

This branch of the Marvel Family are at the present writing, living in Portland, Oregon. They are rather conservative as to politics, but usually vote the Republican ticket, depending much upon the personal of the candidates and the issues at stake. They all send greetings to all the "Marvels" whereever they may be, and aim to live lives worthy of that name of which we all are so proud. The children of Charles Claude and Nellie Elsie (Marvel) Chapman are as follows:

- a. Gerald Marvel Chapman, born at Fosil, Oregon, January 20, 1911. He is a graduate of the High School.

The family moved to Gilliam County, Oregon the following year and Ray grew up on the farm. He finished the eighth grade in school and for two years worked at the printing trade in Portland, Oregon. He attended college for a time and on October 15, 1920 was married to Helen I. Saringhousen. They have each "proved up" on a section of land in Jefferson County, Oregon, and Mr. Marvel is at present foreman of a large stock ranch there. The Wiley Ray Marvels are Republicans in politics usually, and Methodist and Presbyterian in religion. They have the following children:

After her elementary and Normal School training she taught school for four years. On September 15, 1915, she was married to Elwood A. Adkisson. They went to live on the Adkisson home place, a wheat ranch at Boyd, in Wasco County, Oregon, fourteen miles from The Dalles, and still reside there. They are members of the Methodist Episcopal Church at Dufur, Oregon; belong to the Masonic, I.O.O.F., W.O.W., and Rebekah Fraternal orders, and are Republican in politics. "It is with a great deal of pleasure that I contribute my part to the "Marvel History." I am the youngest of a family of ten. Ours was a happy family. My Grammer School and High School days were spent near our country home and very early in life I decided to become a teacher. I was indeed happy when I had signed the contract for my first school—our home school. In the school were twelve boys, ranging from the first grade to the eighth grade. I enjoyed my first year very much, and am now (May, 1927) finishing my ninety-ninth month of teaching.

It was during the latter part of my first year of school teaching that our beloved mother died. The influence our mother had on the moulding of our character was very conspicious. After mother's death, father, Charlotte, the sister just older than I, and myself, moved to Monmouth, Oregon, where Carlotte and I attended the Normal School.

I was reared in a Christian home, for which I am most grateful. At fourteen years of age I gave my heart to God, and was taken into the Methodist Church, of which I have been a member ever since.

August 21, 1919, I became the wife of David Ritchie Etrachan, a highly respected farmer near Dufur, Oregon. We have lived in or near Dufur ever since our marriage. On January 30, 1921, we became the proud parents of a baby girl, whom we named Betty Lou. Betty Lou has just finished her first year of school, and is the proud owner of a certificate of award, which was awarded her for being neither absent nor tardy from school for nine months.

I belong to the Rebekah and the Eastern Star Lodges.

Nothing would give me more pleasure than to be able to attend the Marvel Reunion. I hope and trust that some day I shall be able to do so.

-Lillian Marvel Strachan."

Betty Lou Strachan, daughter of David Ritchie and Lillian (Marvel) Strachan, was born at Dunfur, Oregon, January 30, 1921.

IX. Braxton Marvel, the ninth child of Wiley and Charity F. (Clark) Marvel, was born in Gibson County, Indiana, October 1, 1848. He was but three and a half years of age when the family moved to DeWitt County, Illinois, and there, on the home farm, he spent his youth and young manhood, amid the joys and the rigors of life on the farm in those days. He attended the district school near by, one of his early teachers being "Uncle Joe" Leonard. Political feeling was at fever heat in those days. The Marvel family was itself divided on the questions of the day; the father and most of the sons being Douglas democrats, while Prettyman was an ardent republican and abolitionist. Many and warm were the family debates to which young Braxton listened, but he finally decided that what was good enough for his father was good enough for him; and he has remained a democrat to this day.

His meeting with Abraham Lincoln, Braxton treasures in his memory, and is well worth recounting here. He and his older brother George went to hear Lincoln speak at the grove a mile east of Atlanta, on July 4, 1859. They rode horse-back two draft horses. George took the saddle, and Braxton rode on a blanket with a surcingle stap. They had ten cents each to spend for the day. "Every time my horse would trot," said Braxton, "I would put one hand in my pocket to see that my money did not bounce out. We were three hours going eleven miles. We arrived at high noon and were hungry. Our problem was how to make those two dimes feed us. But we spied a stand which was annuncing two large glasses of cider for five cents, and as much gingerbread as one could eat for another five cents. So we spent one of our dimes for our first course. After the speaking we spent our other ten cents for the second course—which was more cider and ginger-bread. While we were eating, Lincoln and Sylvester Strawn (president of the day) came by, and Lincoln said, "Well boys, how is the cider and gingerbread?" My brother, always quick to answer, replied, "Just fine, Mr. Lincoln, try some of it." I have often wondered just why Mr. Lincoln noticed us two awkward country boys, with our plain clothes, and hair reaching nearly to our shoulders."

Braxton Marvel was married on March 18, 1869, to Sarah E. Barr, a native of DeWitt County, and a daughter of Thomas and Elsie (Watt) Barr, who were born in Indiana and Kentucky, respectively. Thomas Barr was a brother of John Barr who married Comfort Marvel, sister of Wiley Marvel. Sarah E. Barr was also a sister of Nancy Emma Barr, wife of Joseph W., an older brother of Braxton Marvel. After his marriage to Sarah Barr, Braxton Marvel moved to an eighty acres given him by his father. This he sold a few years later, and in 1871 he purchased eighty-six acres. To this he gradually added until his holdings amounted to two hundred and forty-six acres. In 1897 he moved to Waynesville, where he was in the grain business for a time, then operated a grocery store for a few years. He has served as township supervisor for two full terms, and was appointed to fill out a vacancy in another term. He was a member of the School Board in the Tabor district for twenty years and in the Waynesville district for another twenty years. His wife, Sarah (Barr) Marvel, died in July, 1908. Five children were born to them: Elsie Adora, Mary Edith, Everett T., Edna P., and Ethel M.

On January 26, 1910, Braxton Marvel was married to Hulda Lembke. She was born in Mecklen-Schwerin, Germany, April 22, 1861. With her parents she crossed the ocean in a sailing vessel when only four years old, being more than six weeks in making the trip. They had not yet heard of the death of Lincoln when they arrived in New York on July 4, 1865. From New York she went with her parents to Chicago, where she grew to womanhood. Mr. and Mrs. Braxton Marvel live in Waynesville, Illinois. They are Methodists and are honored and respected by a large circle of friends. Mr. Marvel attends all the "Marvel Reunions," and takes an active interest in them. May many days be added to the years of this good couple!
